The Beat Goes On!

The Club year is off to a fast start as we've begun our calendar events starting with the Awards dinner this past 4/11 and going forward to our most recent meeting where we did a quick rig tying and knot refreshing workshop. Those in attendance at the April meeting also witnessed the board at its best as I broached the idea of a catch and release award this year to the angler catching the largest striped bass caught and released determined by length, and proven with a picture of the fish side by side with the ruler for validation, not over the top, as suggested by some at the meeting. The board voted on the spot unanimously to enact this contest for this current season! There has been a previous email explaining the new event that you can refer to.

The diversity continues as next meeting on the 28th of May will be this year Tackle and Gear Auction! Through the discussions with the board the consensus is that this time of year is better for the Auction as you can start using what you need right away when fishing is approaching as compared to ending. I urge all of you to go through your items and mark the items you would like to auction off with a minimum bid and your name. We will start the meeting as promptly as possible so please arrive by 8 pm for our 815 meeting.

On the membership front we are pleased to welcome new members Garrett Weir, John Moran, Jonathan Lemus to the club, and we welcome back Steve Calasbrese and Lamont Andersen to the club as we push forward to reach our optimal threshold of 40 members. If anyone would like to introduce someone for possible membership to the club, the upcoming meeting is the last one in which the derbies will be offered to the new members as we are starting the second monthly event at that time.

EMAIL BLASTS DOING THE RIGHT THING!

If you haven't been checking your emails lately you may not be getting all you can from our club! Over the last few months there have been a few fishing trips that members have offered others in the club. They range from party boat trips to charters from NY to Ma. and you just never know when a trip you would enjoy might be available to you . I am pleased to see the email distribution list being used this way and I encourage members to keep using the list for fishing trip purposes as the more we fish together the better for all of us in the club! While posting about a trip you have open spots for please remember to include the ALL the particulars in full so as to avoid unnecessary emails to everyone, and when possible if you respond to a trip posting, just reply to the sender directly, not "reply all".

Now while the email list is working out really well for our club, the texting to other members as a group has not. I urge you all to just text the one person you need to speak with and not include the whole club in a group text. Text messages while timely are also very intrusive when people are at work and need to be left alone, seeing a message that doesn't concern you is quite frustrating in those situations. If you want to go fishing as a group use the email method a week or so in advance to give everyone a chance to read the message. I have received many complaints in regard to group texts so please utilize texts the way I just outlined.
